NAD+

What is NAD+?

NAD+ (Nicotinamide Adenine Dinucleotide) is a vital coenzyme found in every cell of your body, playing a crucial role in energy production, metabolism, and DNA repair. Replenishing NAD+ promotes cellular regeneration, repairs DNA, protects brain cells, reduces inflammation, and stimulates enzymes to perform important biological processes to support healthy ageing.

Benefits of NAD+ Infusions

Boosts Energy Restores vitality by supporting cellular energy production.

Enhance mental clarity Improves focus, cognitive function, and brain health.

Anti-aging Promotes healthier skin, combats signs of aging, and enhances overall wellness.

Mood Balances neurotransmitters, helping to reduce stress and promote emotional well-being.

Recommendation

To optimise the benefits of NAD+ therapy, we recommend a treatment cycle of 3 infusions over 3 weeks. This way, you can gradually build up your NAD+ levels to allow your body to absorb, repair, and regenerate more effectively.

Maintaining elevated NAD+ levels ensures longer-lasting and noticeable improvements, rather than a short-term burst.

Maintenance infusions thereafter can be discussed. Consult with your nurse to customise a treatment plan that works for you.
